ACADEMIC HEALTH SCIENCES LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

Sept. 2017 – Feb. 2018

Wednesdays, 5pm-8pm

Cost: $500. Space is limited.

Applicants will be notified by August 14, 2017.

Developing current and future leaders in healthcare and related academic environments.

Purpose

This program identifies and mentors future leaders and is targeted towards mid-career health care professionals in the Health Sciences faculties, Health Systems, Regional Health Authorities, and the Government of Manitoba. The focus is on developing skills to assist individuals to prepare for leadership roles while understanding the dynamics of the healthcare system and academic environment. Program participants are critical, creative and lateral thinking individuals who are able to lead academic health sciences units, while fostering organizational growth, learning and innovation.

Description

This program will be delivered using a small group discussion format featuring selected experts and University, Health Authority and Government senior leaders. An online community will supplement these sessions, supporting participants throughout the program and a Capstone Project will be required in the area of leadership relevant to the participant's workplace or sphere of influence. The cost of the program is $500 and space is limited.
